OFFICERS WHOSE DEATH THE COUNTRY NOW MOURNS.

WOUNDED ON FIELD OF BATTLE

MANY KNOWN HERE AND IN LEAV-EXWORTH.

Lieutenant Colonel Carroll, of the Ninth Cavalry: Lieutenant Dennis Michin and Lieutenant Wm. H. Smith Among the Dead.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, KAS., July 4.-(Special.) Kansas, and Fort Leavenworth, has reason to be proud of the soldiers who participated in the battle at Santiago, for at one time or another, nearly all have been stationed at some of the Kansas posts, or have been within the state on business. The list of casualties of the battle contains the names of some who recently left here in answer to the sum mons of war. Just about two months ago the Twentieth United States infantry and the Sixth cavalry boarded the cars here.

amid the well wishes of thousands from the city, and were soon speeding toward the South. These regiments had been stationed here for nearly four years, and in leaving many of the officers and men left loved ones behind. Families of about sixty officers who are with General Shafter are now at this post anxiously waiting for word from the front.

Brigadier General Hamilton S. Hawkins, who was wounded, was colonel of the Twentieth infantry when it left the post. He entered the military academy as a cadet from New York state, in 1852, but is a native of South Carolina. He left the academy January 31, 1855, and April 26, 1861, was commissioned as second lieutenant of the Sixth infantry, and on May 14, of the same year, was promoted to first lieutenant. September 20, 1863, he was given a captain's commission, which he held until October 21, 1883, when he was promoted to be major, and transferred to the Tenth infantry. February 17, 1889, he was made lieutenant colonel of the Twenty-third infantry, and colonel of the Sixteenth infantry August 13, 1894. In the following month he was transferred to the Twentieth nfantry, which regiment he commanded until he was made brigadier general. Shortly after his last transfer the Twentieth came to Fort Leavenworth, where Colonel Hawkins was commandant of the infantry and cavalry school. He has the record of being a thorough disciplinarian and, withal, a thorough officer.

Lieutenant Colonel Henry Carroll, who commanded the Sixth cavalry, entered the army as a private January 13, 1839, serving in the Third artillery, until May 1864, when he was commissioned as second lieutenant of the Third cavalry. He was promoted to a first lieutenantcy April 14, 1866. and captain of the Ninth cavalry January 22, 1867. July 3, 1885, he was transferred to the First cavalry, with the rank of major, and later transferred to the Sixth and made lieutenant colonel. He saw active service in the Army of the Potomac and was in the Battle of the Wilderness, where he was wounded. His family is at Lawrence, Kas.

Captain John B. Kerr, Sixth cavalry, was born near Lexington, Ky., March 12, 1847. and entered the military academy September 1, 1866. His commission as second lieutenant is dated June 15, 1879; first lieutenant, August 1, 1871, and captain February 15, 1885. Captain Kerr has seen some hard Indian fighting, having for many years been stationed in Texas, Arizona and New Mexico, and has been honorably mentioned in war department orders.

Captain John B. Rodman, Twentieth in fantry, was appointed to the military academy from Massachusetts, September 1, 1863, and graduated June 15, 1868, when he was appointed as second lieutenant, Twentieth infantry. This office he held until August 4. 1875, when he became a first lieutenant and was commissioned as captain October 15, 1887, and is now senior captain of the regiment. He is a son of General Rod-man, inventor of the Rodman gun, and his tamily is now at this post.

Captain Charles Dodge, Twenty-fourth front. He participated in the Crow Ininfantry, was born in the District of Columbia, and entered the army as a private June 14, 1875, in which position he served until October 25, 1878, when he was com missioned as second lieutenant of the Twen ty-fourth infantry. June 30, 1883, he was promoted to be first lieutenant and recently rose to the rank of captain. He graduated from the infantry and cavalry school at a Miss Taylor, of this city.

Lieutenant Albert B. Scott, Thirteenth in fantry, was formerly stationed at this post, having graduated from the military academy with the rank of second lieutenant, June 12, 1880. He was transferred to the Sixth infantry as first lieutenant, November 12, 1890, and July 20, 1891, was returned to his former regiment.

Lieutenant Orrin B. Meyer, Third cavalry, at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., was commissioned from the ranks. He took the two years' course at the infantry and cavalry school here, graduating with the class of '97. He was brave to the highest degree and was noted as a lover of athletic sports. He made many friends while here, both at the post and city and was admired by all who knew him.

Second Lieutenant Dennis Michie, of the Seventeenth infantry, one of the officers reported among the dead, was the son of Lieutenant Colonel Michie, professor of philosophy at the United States military academy, West Point. Most of his life had been spent at the Point. He has seen many classes come as "plebs" rise to the dignity of "yearlings" and first class men and, then, go forth as second lieutenants. He was always popular with the cadets and many an officer, who is getting along in the service and years, remembers young Denni: as a fair, good natured boy, playing around the quarters and on the parade ground. He entered the academy in 1888, and was graduated well up in his class in 1892. He Seventeenth regiment After taking the post-graduate course at Fort Leavenworth, he joined his regiment about the time that it was transferred from the West to the Columbus, O., barracks. The Seventeenth was one of the first regiments ordered to Tampa, and he accompanied it as a second lieutenant of Company A. While at Leavenworth and at Columbus he was well known, socially,

Captain Augustus P. Blocksom, of the Sixth cavalry, who was one of the seriously wounded, was a graduate of the class of 77 at West Point. He was born and raised at Zanesville, O., and was appointed from the old Sixteenth district by Hon, Milton Southard. He was graduated above the middle of his class, and choosing the cavalry, was assigned to the Sixth regiment. He was secretary of the infantry and cavalry school, Fort Leavenworth. His regiment was for a long time stationed at Fort Grant, A. T. He served as military instructor at the Ohio state university, Coumbus, and has also had some foreigh service. He was promoted to first lieutenant, January 15, 1884, and captaincy November 10, 1894. His wife was a Philadel-

Lieutenant John J. Conkling, Jr., of the Second artillery, one of the wounded, went to West Point from Penn Yan, N. Y. He was the son of a mechanic, and was a sturdy, honest, straightforward boy who was determined to get through the academy and graduate one in his class. He belonged to the famous '84, Irving Hale's class. He was graduated seventh.

Major A. W. Corliss, who is reported as injured in the battle before Santiago, has a record as an intrepid fighter. He has always been a favorite with officers and men and is one of the few soldiers who realized that the battle with the dons would be a terrible struggle from which many would never return.

The morning the Seventh regiment left Fort Logan the troops were drawn up in a hollow square on the parade ground and given a parting address by Major Corliss. With moisture in his eyes the veteran said: "The regimental commander, Colonel Benham, wishes me to say to you, 'Remember your good name." We have no child's play before us, but stern reality. The Seventh has a good name to remem er. Let that be our guiding star." After the departure of the troops Mrs. Corliss remained at Fort Logan.

Captain Charles W. Taylor, Ninth cavalry, was well and favorably known here, where he was formerly stationed. After graduating from the military establish-ment in June, 1879, and he was on detached service in the field with the commanding officer of the district of New Mexico, and served against the Indians in the Ute campaign and in other Western states and territories.

Second Lieutenant Winthrop S. Wood, Tenth cavalry, was a native of the District of Columbia, but was appointed to the academy from Maine, graduating in 1889. First Lieutenant Albert L. Mills, First cavalry, was an instructor at the infantry and cavalry school when ordered to the dian campaign in Montana and saw Indian service in several other Western ter-ritories. He received official thanks from the commanding general of the Columbia for "arduous and dangerous duty" in the

First Lieutenant J. F. Grissard, Seventh infantry, graduated from the military academy in 1888 and was a member of the last class at the infantry and cavalry

Captain James B. Jackson, Seventh in fantry, was appointed from civil life and would reach his retiring year in 18899. He served during the war of the rebellion and was in the battles of Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, and was present at the sur-render of General Johnson in 1865.

Captain T. W. Morrison, Sixteenth in fantry, killed at Santiago, was born in Indiana and was appointed from civil life as second lieutenant Eighteenth Indiana infantry August 16, 1861. He served with distinction in the battles of Pea Ridge. Chickamauga and Chattanooga, and was in Sherman's campaign to Knoxville, Tenn.

Lieutenant Colonel John M. Hamilton Ninth cavalry, enlisted as a private in Company H. Thirty-third New York infantry, May 1, 1861, and December 24, 1863, was commissioned as second lieutenant Ninth United States colored infantry, May 15, of the same year, he was made firs lieutenant and was honorably mustered out

Lieutenant Colonel Joseph T. Haskell, Seventeenth infantry, is well known at the post and in the city, he having been stationed here for a number of years. He was appointed captain and commissary of sub sistence of volunteers from civil life February 19, 1863, and was breveted as colone of volunteers November 26, 1868. On this tain of the Twenty-third infantry in the regular service. He is a native of Ohio, from which state he was appointed.

Colonel Charles A. Wikoff, Second in fantry, who is reported to be fatally wounded, joined the First Pennsylvania infantry as a private April 20, 1861, and was commissioned as first lieutenant Fifteenth regular infantry, May 14, 1861. He rose suc cessively in the Twenty-fourth, Eleventh Fourteenth and Nineteenth infantry, and on his promotion to a colonelcy was trans ferred to the Second infantry.

Lieutenant William H. Smith Tenth cavalry, who is reported killed at Santiago, is a Cass county boy, having been born and reared to manhood in Harrisonville, Mo. His parents were among the early settlers of the county, and his father, Aaron B. Smith, was in his day a prominent man in business and political affairs, having been several times elevated to office. Lieutenant Smith was a graduate of West Point, and has been in the regular army since 1883. When the troops were ordered to Cuba word was received here that Lieutenant Smith had been offered his choice of captain of a white ompany or the coloneley of a colored regiment, but it is not known which, if either, he accepted. He leaves a wife and four

CLEVELAND, July 4 .- Among the United States soldiers who were wounded in the battle before Santiago Friday was Lieutenant Orin B. Meyer, a son of Gen-eral Ed. S. Meyer, of this city. General Meyer received a telegram from the war department stating that his son had been wounded in the hip. The general left for Washington at once to make arrangements to have the lieutenant brought back to the United States. Lieutenant Meyer was an officer of the

REINFORCEMENTS EN ROUTE. Upward of 4,000 Men Are Now on Their Way From Tampa to

Santingo. WASHINGTON, July 4.-Upward of 4.000 men are now on their way to reinforce General Shafter in his operations in Sangent is six batteries of light artillery, consisting of twenty-four officers and @ men. which left Tampa yesterday. They are made up of two companies each from the Third, Fourth and Fifth artillery regiments. On June 30, the First Illinois regiment, of forty-six officers and 8% men, pulled out of Tampa, and yesterday at 12 o'clock the first District of Columbia volunteer regiment, consisting of thirty-six officers and $17 men. command of Colonel George H. Harries, left the same place. On June 29, a vesse left with 950 men aboard, comprising recruits to fill a number of the existing regiments now in Cuba to their maximum strength provided by law. The vessels are to assemble at Key West, where a naval convoy will escort them to Shafter's re-

Other reinforcements are to be hurried to General Shafter as rapidly as steamships can carry them, notwithstanding the fact that additional troops are not now so badly needed as was indicated by the develop ments of Friday and Saturday. The dispatches received by the war department from General Shafter show a confidence in his present ability to control the situation In fact, he says that he is master of the city of Santiago, which his troops entirely surround. The position he occupies makes t impossible either for the Spanish forces to evacuate the city or for General Pando's troops to reinforce them. During the afternoon Secretary Alger

General Miles and General Corbin had a conference with the president at the White House concerning the sending of reinforcements to Shafter and it was determined to take no chances, but to send the troops at

The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul is now at New York taking on a cargo of ammunition for Admiral Sampson's fleet. Owing to the necessity of her early departure it was not originally intended to send the troops by her, but this afternoon it was decided she should take one regiment. In accordance with that determination orders were issued this evening for the Eighth Ohio infantry. Colonel Charles W. Hurd and Lieutenant Colonel Charles Dick, the regiment known as "The President's Own," because it comes from the immediate vicinity of President McKinley's home city of Canton, to proceed to New York and embark on the St.

Paul for Santiago.

The St. Paul will leave New York late Wednesday afternoon, and will make a flying trip to Cuba. The Elghth Ohio is one of the regiments of General Garret-son's brigade, the other two being the Sixth Massachusetts and the Sixth Illinois. Both of the remaining regiments will be held under waiting orders and will move probably in a few days. The plan is to send them to Santiago by either the Yale or the Harvard, both of which are expected shortly at Newport News.

The Eighth Ohio will leave Camp Alger William A. Wield, Troop K, 3d cav., in early Wednesday morning for New York Barney Redmond, Co. F. 12th inf., in left and will board the steamer immediately upon arrival there. The regiment will b accompanied by the brigade commander. General Garretson. In addition to the troops at Camp Alger, which are to be sent to Santiago, the brigades of General Ernest and General Haines, now at Chickamauga, will be sent within a few days. General Ernest's brigade consists of the Third Wisconsin, the Fifth Illinois and the First Kentucky.

and the First New Hampshire.

These troops will be sent to Savannah or Charleston where steamers have been ob tained to carry them directly to Santiago. In addition to the troops now en route t Cuba from Tampa, the force to be sen within a few days will reinforce Genera Shafter to the extent of about 10,000 men.

Brice Hears From His Sons.

LCNDON, July 4.—Former United States Senator Calvin S. Brice, who is now in London, received this evening cablegrams from his two sons, one with the army at Santiago de Cuba and the other with the transports that have arrived at Manila. Both dispatches gave excellent reports of respective situations.

KANSAS CITY, July 1.—Tempera. Oure yesterday—Min. 65, max., 82. Teasy we look for the weather to be 0 ir and warmer.

RAVELERS passing through the city. strangers, everybody. consider yourselves in- 0 vited to stop and see 0 o the Store - we don't mean o specially to buy, that goes without saying, but consider o vourse ves we come as lookerson and visitors.

For want of a word exactly o oright, we call you visitors; it o seems to imply some sort of reception — all the reception of you get is an open house al O through, a place to leave your O O parceis on checks, no fees; a o o place for you to rest in, no tees; a place to lunch in if you like, and there you pay; ice cream and cool drinks if you O like, and there you pay-but O o the gist of the invitation is to o be lookers-on.

This Store is being placed more and more on a homelike ? o basis, everybody is at home in Q oit, how can you help but be? The Store is yours, it is here o or your pleasure and conven-O ience and every effort is made C to improve on the pleasures o you aready enjoy.

Mysterious noises and calls o of human voices come from within inclosures on all the O floors -- that's not a circumo stance to what it will be short- 0 oly. These noises come from o the carpenters who are making o a way for the elevator men, but when the elevator men begin O to work there will be heavy hammering and pounding of O iron, etc -- this is only to show o o how improvements go on here o for your comfort-only a little while now before these two ning. Electric fans have been put o in all over the Store that whirl around fresh, invigorating air, let in from outdoors by wide o open windows on all sides o: the building—this creates a coo a a mosphere that helps to make the shopping hours brighter.

Do you wonder at the desire o of thousands of people to do their trading here?
